Setting the game plan

Be part of the policy game plan!

Following the sale of its education business to Kaplan, Finsia has an unprecedented opportunity to increase the reach and depth of its policy and advocacy initiatives.

We aim to hit the ground running with senior industry workshops for both Capital Markets and Wealth Management in Sydney, Melbourne and Auckland. The other regions will follow in early 2008.

Take this opportunity be an involved Finsia member. Help us to:

- determine the campaign objectives for 2008 on the issues that other organizations have been unable or unwilling to advocate
- identify the challenges facing the Australasian financial services industry and where Finsia can best direct resources in the service of research, consultation and publicity.

This is your Finsia. We have greater resources and a firmer resolve to provide a forum for our members to raise industry challenges and have the ear of Government and the regulators. But we need you to be involved!

Each workshop will involve a short presentation from the President/CEO, a brief introduction from the policy team and then a structured discussion on the issues and challenges the industry faces. Reading materials will be distributed in advance.
